

With regards to "Hi Fi Single SideBand" and wide AM signals on ham radio, I think that these modes should be permitted, but afforded no protection from more conventional SSB and AM signals, and users of Hi Fi SSB and AM must protect other users from interference. Essentially that Hi Fi SSB users should only operate on an otherwise empty or sparsely used band at the time of operation.